

Linthwaite House in the Lake District offers Complimentary Green Fees

England, June 2016: The Lake District's luxurious Linthwaite House, part of the Leeu Collection (www.leeucollection.com), is offering golfing guests complimentary green fees at Windermere Golf Club this summer and early autumn. To qualify, guests are simply required to book a dinner, bed and breakfast package at Linthwaite (except on Saturdays when a minimum two-night stay is necessary).

While many visitors flock to the Lake District for its spectacular walking opportunities, less well known is the fact that Cumbria is home to almost 40 golf courses nestled amid some of the most beautiful scenery in England. Located less than a mile from Linthwaite, Windermere is rated one of the top courses in the county and boasts stunning views of Lake Windermere and the surrounding fells.

Founded in 1891, the layout has an excellent pedigree having been designed by George Lowe who – at the time – was the professional at the celebrated Royal Lytham & St Annes, a course he also created. In true moorland style, each hole at Windermere follows the gently rolling and rugged character of the local terrain to create a layout that is both charming and challenging.

Though not long by today's standards, this 5,143-yard, par 67 course is still a good test of golf thanks to a splattering of blind tee shots and natural hazards such as rocky outcrops, abundant heather and copses of trees situated along the fairways.

In addition, there are several other golf courses within easy reach of Linthwaite, including the parkland course at Ulverston just 15 miles away. This hidden gem with great views over Morecambe Bay and the Lakeland fells was redesigned by the famous golfer and course architect Harry Colt, who turned it into a more exciting and rewarding layout.
